

Short update

Monday, 08 June 2009

Unhelpful weather conditions

The wind has taken Simon backwards 6 nm despite deployment of the para anchor. The forecast for the week is not much better with winds in every direction but the one he needs to travel in. Not good news. On the positive side, the rudder lines have not broken yet and has just finished his first cooking gas canister - and he has another eleven !